

Choices
of
the
Heart

Kathy Collard Miller

Whispers
of
My
Heart

Kathy Collard Miller

At
the
Heart
of
Friendship

Kathy Collard Miller

Heart
Wisdom

Kathy Collard Miller

Daughters of the King
Letters from God

Kathy Collard Miller

Choices of the Heart

My precious Princess and Daughter,

I am in control. I am sovereign. I am able to make things happen the way I want. Yes, I do allow you to make your own choices. And I know you don't fully understand how these concepts can operate side by side. But I'm able to work within and around the choices you make to cause my ultimate purposes to succeed. For this, you must trust me. Ask me about your choices and plans. My wisdom is yours if you'll ask.

Just look at my Son's death and resurrection. His enemies thought they were acting on their own. Yet, while their choices revealed who they truly were, I made sure my words given to my prophets came true.

I want you to cooperate with my plans. When the people around you reject my leading, be assured, I am still in control. I will fulfill my plan. At times, I'll ask you to help me influence their lives, but don't take responsibility for them. Their choices are their own, but I'm still in control. Trust me. I'll use all things for your good.

Lovingly,

Your heavenly Father, the King

My precious Princess and Daughter,

I know your life has its ups and downs. I grieve with you when you mourn a loss, whether physical or emotional. I know you do not like the pain of unhappy times. On the surface, I may seem very unloving. I know your feelings. You don't need to hide them from me. I understand.

But can you trust me? I intend only good for you. I intend to bring flowers out of the ashes and joy out of the sadness. And if you're experiencing happiness right now, then enjoy! Don't feel guilty. I rejoice with you. I am blessed when you express your gratitude to me. I receive your love.

You see, I know the plans I have for you. I'm molding and refining your character so you can be a more useful vessel in my hands. Spiritual growth is how you'll find true fulfillment. I am eager to accomplish my plans in your life because you are my Daughter, my creation. I love and value you.

Lovingly,

Your heavenly Father, the King

My precious Princess and Daughter,

I'm excited about using your influence on others. Your society may try to convince you you're insignificant and powerless, but I can empower you to make a difference. You were created with a purpose, and I know exactly what I want to accomplish through you.

At times, you may think what I'm calling you to isn't significant. Many of my callings are not valued by the world. Diapering a baby may not seem influential. Helping at a shelter may not seem significant. But anything I call you to is significant in my eyes. So agree with what I find important and respond to my call regardless of the world's values.

I understand your broken heart when it seems you've failed. You may believe you've touched others in a hurtful way. But I am powerful enough to correct and heal even sin. Will you confess those areas of failure or disobedience? I'll forgive you—and help you to forgive others and for them to forgive you. Do all you can in my power and continue growing in love toward others. You are making progress. I'm pleased.

Lovingly,

Your heavenly Father, the King

My precious Princess and Daughter,

I'm excited about using your influence on others. Your society may try to convince you you're insignificant and powerless, but I can empower you to make a difference. You were created with a purpose, and I know exactly what I want to accomplish through you.

At times, you may think what I'm calling you to isn't significant. Many of my callings are not valued by the world. Diapering a baby may not seem influential. Helping at a shelter may not seem significant. But anything I call you to is significant in my eyes. So agree with what I find important and respond to my call regardless of the world's values.

I understand your broken heart when it seems you've failed. You may believe you've touched others in a hurtful way. But I am powerful enough to correct and heal even sin. Will you confess those areas of failure or disobedience? I'll forgive you—and help you to forgive others and for them to forgive you. Do all you can in my power and continue growing in love toward others. You are making progress. I'm pleased.

Lovingly,

Your heavenly Father, the King

Whispers of My Heart

My precious Princess and Daughter,

I DO LOVE THE TIMES YOU TALK TO ME. Whether you're in trouble and asking for help; whether you're confused and asking for guidance; when you come to me with your praise and thanksgiving; or whether you just want my attention for any reason, I delight in your call to me.

There is joy for both of us when you seek me in prayer. I long for the fellowship of your attention. I wanted it so much, I sent my only Son, Jesus, to die for you to make it possible.

I want you to enjoy our time together as much as I do. I want you to feel loved and approved as we communicate. I look at you with eyes of love and acceptance because you are my precious Daughter.

I know you may not always appreciate or understand my answers to your requests. But please believe, dear one, I only respond with what I know will be best for you. Will you trust my wisdom and permit me to do what is right for you? If you could see the situation the way I do, you'd choose the same thing.

Please continue to seek me. I don't want anything to keep us from our times together. They mean so much to me. And so do you.

Lovingly,

Your heavenly Father, the King

My precious Princess and Daughter,

WHEN YOU PRAY, YOU DO NOT PRAY ALONE. My Spirit cries within you. And my Son sits at my right hand interceding for you. We want our best for you. We know you don't always know that. Sometimes you don't even know what to pray for.

The accuser, Satan, comes before me but I know the truth about you. He thinks he's tattling on you—as if I don't know everything. He thinks he will sway me away from loving and accepting you unconditionally. But that's impossible. Absolutely impossible. Please hear me when I promise you have immediate, continual access to my throne. You are my child and my Princess.

Your performance has nothing to do with me hearing you because Jesus died on the cross for your sins to wipe away any separation between us. My Son and my Spirit are your ever-present Helpers.

Talk to me. Our times of close fellowship are important to me—and to you. I see Jesus' robe of righteousness wrapped around you, and you are acceptable and perfect in my sight. Have no fear. I have not left you helpless. Remember, we are in you and we are much greater than Satan.

Lovingly,

Your heavenly Father, the King

My precious Princess and Daughter,

I WANT YOU TO COME BEFORE ME WITH YOUR REQUESTS AND BE CONFIDENT YOU WILL SEE MY ANSWERS. I made prayer possible because I want my power to be demonstrated in your life. You feel my love and presence when you pray. And you see my power when you see answers. But even if you don't, I'm still attentive to you.

I want you to trust me enough to know my “requirements” for prayer increase your dependence and faith. Yes, I do want you to be clean from sin to have access to my presence. But I want you believing I hear and respond the right way. So, talk to me boldly and confidently. I want my throne room to feel very comfortable and inviting to you. And the more often you enter it, the more comfortable it will be to you. Tell me everything on your heart and mind. Then listen for my whisper in your heart, through others' counsel, and primarily through my Word, my love letter to you.

I want to answer you, dear one. If I'm silent at times, know the answer is coming. Although I can't guarantee you'll understand or see clearly all my answers on this earth, please believe I love and value you. I hear every word, see every tear, know every longing of your heart. I will answer.

Lovingly,

Your heavenly Father, the King

My precious Princess and Daughter,

MY DAUGHTER, YOU ARE IMPORTANT TO ME. I know how much your hectic life and busy schedule can distract you from hearing my voice, but I want to communicate with you and respond to you. Hearing my words does take time and patience; it also involves learning to recognize my whisper in your heart. But don't worry, I am patient with you. I keep trying and I have every confidence you will grow in hearing me better and better, too. There are many "voices" competing for your attention. I know you won't always recognize my voice among them, even with many years of practice and awareness. But trust me. It is part of my plan because life is a journey in faith. So, don't be discouraged if it seems you'll always question whether it's my voice or not. I'm with you to guide you through life's maze. Believe me, I am in complete control. Never fear. Keep seeking me. Study my Word, know my heavenly principles, and trust me. My gentle and kind voice will draw you.

Lovingly,

Your heavenly Father, the King

Heart Wisdom

My precious Princess and Daughter:

I don't want my children to fight among themselves because of misunderstandings or pride. There are principles in my Word I want you to stand strong in but not through anger and demanding your rights. Most often, those emotions do not honor me. They are used for your honor and exaltation. However, those who surrender their anger to me and respond in humility to slights real or imagined find I can change the other person.

Beloved child, if you are struggling in some conflict, will you examine your heart sincerely and honestly? Have I actually asked you to fight this battle? Is the issue really that important? Seek me. I will coach you on how to speak the truth in love. And I will empower you to do the right thing—if you will listen to me.

If you are standing strong at my request, I will use this conflict to bring glory to my name. It will not be wasted. Never forget how much I love you. You are a princess in my royal family on my royal mission.

Lovingly,

Your heavenly Father, the King

My precious Princess and Daughter:

Your words are very important to me. Just as you desire to hear an encouraging word, I want you to give encouraging words.

I understand how difficult that is at times. In so many circumstances and situations, I know you are tempted to use discouraging, harmful, or controlling words. But I know, too, your heart and your desire to reflect me.

Beloved daughter, you are my spokeswoman and so many need to hear words of truth. Never be afraid to speak like my princess. Isn't that more important and valuable than getting empty satisfaction from a few powerless, self-centered words? I will bless your words when they are centered in me.

Read my words. Absorb the fact of my great love for you, my plans for your good, and my perspective of your life. Know how important and valuable you are to me, my precious one. Don't ever forget even when hurtful things are said to you or about you, they are insignificant compared to who I say you are to me.

Lovingly,

Your heavenly Father, the King

My precious Princess and Daughter:

I don't want my children to fight among themselves because of misunderstandings or pride. There are principles in my Word I want you to stand strong in but not through anger and demanding your rights. Most often, those emotions do not honor me. They are used for your honor and exaltation. However, those who surrender their anger to me and respond in humility to slights real or imagined find I can change the other person.

Beloved child, if you are struggling in some conflict, will you examine your heart sincerely and honestly? Have I actually asked you to fight this battle? Is the issue really that important? Seek me. I will coach you on how to speak the truth in love. And I will empower you to do the right thing—if you will listen to me.

If you are standing strong at my request, I will use this conflict to bring glory to my name. It will not be wasted. Never forget how much I love you. You are a princess in my royal family on my royal mission.

Lovingly,

Your heavenly Father, the King

My precious Princess and Daughter:

I own the cattle on all the hills of the earth and every ounce of gold inside the earth. Will you trust me to give you what I know you need? Remember, money is merely a medium of exchange, and in heaven's view, it has no value. It is just another way for you to grow as you learn greater trust in my caring generosity.

I know it's hard at times, my beloved child, to take an objective view of money and financial success. The world says your worth is tied up in money. But can you see that lie as one of the deceiver's traps? Money really has no value—except to serve my wishes and plans. Some day when you're in heaven, it will be of no use to you.

Valued daughter, I promise to provide for every one of your true earthly needs. Yes, I provide for each of my children in different ways, and you may wish I'd give you more, but will you trust me? It's so easy to compare, but I have a special and unique plan for each of my children.

More than anything else, you will inspire others with your growing confidence in my love about your finances. I will make it possible for you to live abundantly regardless of your earthly means. I'll be glorified through you. That is true riches—knowing I bless others through you.

Lovingly,

Your heavenly Father, the King

*At the Heart
of
Friendship*

My precious Princess and Daughter:

I am the creator of heaven, earth, and your friendships. My desire is your friends will be a blessing to you and represent the best of a relationship with me, your very best friend. It is my heart's desire you will bless others also.

I've uniquely created the godly friendships women crave. I've designed you to value relationships. Your heart's urge to reach out to others is a reflection of my heart's desire.

There are so many women who need your friendship. I have so much joy to give you through others. Won't you open up your circle of friends and make room for more of this wonderful gift? I've molded you for a specific purpose to have an impact in their lives. That doesn't mean there won't be problems, dear one, but I will bless you through your friendships with others.

Although a human friendship cannot give you the joy my friendship can, I use friendships in your life to help meet many of your needs. But only I can completely fulfill that need. So enjoy your friendships as one of my gifts to you, but remember they are inadequate and incomplete in comparison to my perfect and fulfilling love for you. When you're seeking friendships, will you primarily value mine?

I'm eager to reveal more of myself to you—and to your friends through you.

Lovingly,

Your heavenly Father, the King

My precious Princess and Daughter:

I understand the temptation of envy and jealousy. I realize the challenge you face to resist them. I want you to use my strength to overcome their pull in your life. If you focus on other people, instead of my great love for you, it will be easy to think they are getting something or someone you don't have. But, my beloved child, I know what is best for you. Will you believe I know exactly what you need?

It may seem at times life isn't fair and you're not getting what you deserve. Other women may have more possessions, greater outward beauty, or the kind of ministry you want. Like Peninnah, you could envy a woman her husband. Or like Hannah, you may want to have children and I haven't provided the fulfillment of that desire.

When those envious or jealous feelings well up inside you, use my strength to keep from acting on them. Resist those feelings by reflecting on my abundant provision for you. Even when things seem to be missing in your life, trust I will work all things out for the best. I promise you will always have everything necessary to help you be the godly woman I want you to be.

You are my chosen daughter and you need never feel envious toward your friends or those who don't know me. Keep your eyes on me, the lover of your soul. Don't let our enemy, Satan, influence you to harbor feelings denying my presence in your life. Turn your attention to me; I love you so much. I am your Father. There is nothing to envy in others or jealously try to protect.

Lovingly,

Your heavenly Father, the King

My precious Princess and Daughter:

No one, not even a husband, can fill your deepest longings and desires for intimacy and friendship—no one can but me. But I do want to bless you with close friendships, and, if I lead you into marriage, I want your husband to be the deepest and most intimate of all human friends. But I never want you to take your eyes off me. I am the only one who can meet your deepest needs. It is unfair of you to expect that of any earthly friend, even a husband.

Your husband has a different perspective on life, but I designed you both ... to complement each other. Instead of viewing him as an irritation, can you be grateful for the different perspective he offers? That is the way you will grow the closest, by valuing his perspective. Can you consider the importance of another person's ideas as my way to give you insight and help? Don't you see? He is another of my gifts to you—a friend who will be strong when you are weak; encourage you when you are distressed; stretch you to venture out of your comfort zone.

That doesn't mean you'll always get along perfectly, but my desire is for you to enjoy each other. Welcome his ideas as my gifts. If he is leading you astray in some way, I'll let you know and strengthen you to take a stand. But in most things, cherish the gift I've given you through the human friendship of marriage.

Your husband will never be able to love you perfectly, but I will always love you with an everlasting, perfect love.

Lovingly,

Your heavenly Father, the King

My precious Princess and Daughter:

There is one thing you need never compete over—my love.

My love for you and each one of my children is so incredible and inexhaustible there is more than enough for everyone. You don't ever need to feel insecure or wonder if I love one more than another. My intense affection and concern for you is never diminished by being shared. You cannot compete or work for my love. It is a gift.

Jacob couldn't give that kind of love to both Rachel and Leah, and they began to compete for his love. Too many of my children think they have to fight each other to gain my attention or approval. They let themselves fall victim to the deceiver's lies and want to be perceived by the world as better than someone else. But I don't want you, my daughter, to feel like that. I love each one of my children equally and completely. Come to me and sit at my side. You are not in competition with anyone else for my approval or love.

If your friend seems to be competing with you in some way, let it be. Take on my Son's humble attitude. Allow her to "win." And be honest with her when you feel tempted to compete as well. You will be freed from thinking you have to always be right, always ahead, always in front. That isn't the way I want my children to think. Won't you seek to please me? I will lift you up and hold you close. Trust me. My way is always for your best. No one can ever come between us. I can never love anyone else more than you.

Lovingly,

Your heavenly Father, the King

Kathy Collard Miller is an award-winning author, speaker, and lay counselor. She is the author of over 50 books including Bible studies, commentaries, and books on spiritual growth. Kathy has spoken at women's events in eight foreign countries and over thirty US states. She and her husband, Larry, live in southern California and often speak together at couples' events. She is the mom of two grown children and grandma to two. www.KathyCollardMiller.com